

KEEP UP THE WORK FOR GOOD OF STATE

NATURAL RESOURCES OF WISCONSIN SHOWN.

First Report Shows That Valuable Results Have Been Accomplished—Commission Desires to Keep Investigators at Work—Evening Wisconsin Favors the Plan.

Among the things for which the present republican state administration will be remembered in history is the intelligent work set on foot under its auspices for the conservation and exploitation of the natural resources of Wisconsin, the bill covering the work having been introduced by Assemblyman Wheeler. At the last session of the legislature, two boards of commissioners were established, and each of these commissions has this year submitted its first official report. The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin reviews the report, and says: "The first biennial report of the commissioners of the Geological and Natural History Survey shows that out of the $10,000 appropriated to it the Survey has thus far expended about $8,500. Much work for the Survey has been performed gratuitously by Prof. C. R. Van Hise, Prof. E. A. Birge, Prof. C. Dwight Marsh, George L. Collier, L. S. Cheney, E. C. Chandler, and others. The commission has published and distributed two bulletins, and has two others in a forward stage of preparation. Of the two already in the hands of the public—the report on the forestry conditions of Northern Wisconsin, by Filibert Roth, and the monograph on the habits and instincts of the solitary wasps, by G. W. and E. G. Peckham, mention was made in these columns at the time of their appearance. One of the two publications in press is scientific in character, being a monograph on the pre-Cambrian igneous rocks of the Fox River Valley, by S. Weidman. The other is distinctly practical, being a treatise on the building and ornamental stones of Wisconsin, by E. R. Buckley, assistant state geologist. Mr. Buckley has collected samples of building stone from nearly fifty quarries, the collection being on exhibition at the rooms of the Survey.

To Use Colored Plates

Advantage will be taken of the recent advance in color-printing to copiously illustrate Mr. Buckley's report, which will contain plates illustrating in many cases the features of several useful and beautiful varieties of granite and brownstone found in Wisconsin. The report will also contain tables presenting the result of tests showing that Wisconsin not only has the strongest known granite and limestone, but also possesses building materials which are equal, if not superior, in durability to others now used in the state and imported from other parts of the country. The report says: 'The great variety of granites which are to be found in different parts of the state indicate that in the future monumental stones used in this state will be largely obtained from the home quarries. Many of the granites now have an enviable reputation in the markets of the United States.'

Worked in the Woods

"An interesting feature of the Survey is the work performed by Dr. Samuel Weidman, who has spent two seasons in field-work in the region about Wausau and Merrill, studying 1000 square miles in which little or no geological work has heretofore been accomplished. The investigation of the lakes of the southern and eastern portions of the state has formed another interesting feature of the work. Hydrographic maps showing the outlines of the lakes and the depth of water in them have been prepared. Prof. Birge, the director of the Survey, and Prof. March, president of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, have made some headway in a biological survey of the Wisconsin lakes.

"The compilation of Prof. Roth's report on the forestry conditions of Northern Wisconsin was a labor in which the geological survey and the forestry survey were jointly interested. His work was done chiefly at the cost of the federal government, as he was assigned by the Department of Agriculture to duty in Wisconsin, and the department paid his salary while the geological survey defrayed his traveling and other expenses.

"President Adams, of the University of Wisconsin, who is also president of the Geological Survey, says:

President Adams' Idea.

"The commissioners desire to maintain two geological parties in the field; to undertake the investigation of the clays and clay industries of the state; to begin the chemical and biological investigation of the waters of the southern part of the state; and to devote a reasonable sum of money to the completion of the topographical map of the state. If these plans are to be carried out, an appropriation of from $15,000 to $17,000 annually will be needed by the Survey.

"The State Forestry Commission, consisting of George D. Burrows, H. C. Putnam and Ernest Bruncken, recommends the enactment of legislation for the establishment of a system of state forests, and has drafted a bill with this object in view. The bill provides for the appointment of a superintendent of state forests with a salary of $3,000 per annum, and an assistant with a salary of $2,000, together with such other subordinate officials as the Board of Forestry Commissioners may authorize. "The board and superintendent would

STUDENTS DECLAIM FOR DISTRICT HONOR

LARGE AUDIENCE ASSEMBLED AT BROADHEAD.

Nearly All the High Schools in Southern Wisconsin Were Represented—Two Prizes Won by Milton Junction Orators and One by an Orfordville Young Lady.

Broadhead, Wis., Feb. 2.—The Century declamatory contest held here last evening brought together the largest audience ever assembled in Broadhead, and some 200 went away because they could not gain admittance to the hall. The contest was between the graded schools and the high schools of Rock and Green counties, the Century Pen company having offered one of their best fountain pens to any one from any high school giving the best declamation, and a pen also for the best declamation from the graded schools. There were nine contestants from the graded schools—Mollie Wohlwend, Juda, Ploy Atherton, Albany; Inez Rice, Milton; Neva Helmbolt, Orfordville; Jessie Owen, Milton Junction; Maud Barney, Monticello; Clara Fisher, Footville; Madge Fifer, Edgerton; Lena Rowe, Broadhead. The high school contestants were Maud Thiry, Milton Junction; Mary Watson, Edgerton; Lillian Wessel, Albany; I. McDonald, Janesville; Ethel Barr, Broadhead. The judges were President Salisbury, of Whitewater; Assistant Superintendent Parker, of Madison; R. J. Coe, of Fort Atkinson.

Milton Junction Won Both First Prizes.

The one for the high school being awarded to Maud Thiry, who recited "Lady Maud's Oath," and the one for the grades to Jessie Owen, who gave "The Clown's Baby." The second prize, a Spenser, was awarded to Miss Neva Helmbolt of Orfordville, for the graded schools; and to Miss Ethel Barr of Broadhead, for the high schools. It is thought that from this contest will spring a declamatory league.

SHIP TOBACCO TO MELBOURNE

Leaf Shipment Made to Far Away Australia.

Stuart B. Heddles, the well known leaf tobacco dealer, received an order this week for a forty-case shipment of leaf tobacco to be sent at once to a well known firm in Melbourne, Australia. The tobacco will be sent from this city via New York, and will take about two months before it reaches its destination, the freight charges alone being a neat sum.

This is the third shipment that Mr. Heddles has made to this far away land.

Pope Favors "Americanism."

Rome, Feb. 2.—The belief is expressed by persons near Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, that the pope's letter on "Americanism," recently announced, will remain unpublished, his holiness preferring to discuss the matter verbally with Archbishop Ireland. The non-publication of the letter is taken as an indication that the pope is favorable to the policy of "Americanism."

Gov. Shaw on Finance.

New York, Feb. 2.—The Manufacturers' association of New York gave its annual dinner last night. Gov. Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa was the first speaker, and he made a lengthy address on "The Evolution of Finance." He said if it were the purpose of the government to maintain the gold standard and the parity of all forms of money there was nothing that would relieve anxiety so much as a definite statute to that effect.

Decision as to Delagoa Bay.

London, Feb. 2.—The Berne correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs that the decision of the arbitrators in the Delagoa bay dispute may be expected not later than June. It is added that the United States threatens, in case of further unreasonable delay, to make grave representations to the federal council which appointed the arbitrators, and that Great Britain will join in these representations.

Cripple Creek's Big Output.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 2.—Cripple Creek's January output of ore was $1,535,000, an increase of 40 per cent over January, 1898. At this ratio, the 1899 output will exceed $20,000,000. The smelters treated 8,500 tons of an average value of $100. Reduction works, mills and plants treated 16,000 tons, the average being about $25.

DISPUTE AS TO THE RIGHT OF INSURGENTS TO FLY THEIR FLAG.

Hong Kong, Feb. 2.—[Special]—The Filipino members of the joint commission at Manila have demanded the release of the launches seized by the Americans, also that they be permitted to fly the Filipino flag in the waters of the Philippines. Gen. Otis said he was in favor of granting the concession, but Dewey refused, not wishing to be compelled to keep a continual outlook for the smuggling of arms and avert a possible torpedo attack. The use of the Filipino flag is permitted on shore.

The military police almost daily seize quantities of rifles and ammunition. The city is thoroughly patrolled, especially at night.

The Filipino telegraph office has been closed by Americans, who learned that the wires were used to transmit secret orders to the Filipino leaders. Two guns of the Utah Battery are mounted. There is no evidence that the Filipinos intend to begin hostilities, but it is practically certain they will resist if the Americans force matters.

The radical independence element now dominates the Filipino government. Since the killing of an officer by a Minnesota soldier American officers have not ventured outside of Manila. Foreigners are not permitted to travel in the interior without a pass from Aguinaldo.

BOARD RECOMMENDS PAULEY JAIL PLAN

ST. LOUIS COMPANY GETS THE CONTRACT.

Board of Supervisors Met In Adjourned Session This Afternoon and Heard the Plans of the Building Committee—Other Bids That Were Submitted.

The Rock county board of supervisors met in adjourned session at the court house this afternoon for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee on public buildings, which was entirely in relation to the building of the new county jail to be erected at the corner of Park and South First streets. All the supervisors were present except F. A. Baker, K. N. Grunhult and W. W. Porter.

Chairman Simon Smith called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock, T. B. Bailey, of Beloit, chairman of the building committee, submitted his report, which was a lengthy and well prepared one. The committee, he stated, had for the past two months given the matter their closest attention, and had from the different plans selected for recommendation those submitted by the Pauley Jail Building Company, of St. Louis. These plans called for a modern two-story structure, with sheriff's residence attached.

The jail portion was absolutely fire proof, and with sheriff's residence was to cost $20,950. The residence portion consists of ten rooms, and the jail of twenty-five cells. The best of sanitary plumbing was included, pressed brick would form the outside, and a slate roof would cover all.

The following firms submitted bids, which were not favored by the building committee:

J. G. Wagner and Co., Milwaukee—$24,911. Ten room residence and twenty-six cells.

Portsmouth Steel and Iron Co., Portsmouth, O.—$22,408. Seven room residence and twenty-eight cells.

Champion Iron Co., Kenton, O.—$21,688. Seven room residence and twenty-four cells.

Philip Dean, architect, Appleton—$23,515. Twenty-three cells.

R. G. Kirch & Co., Milwaukee—$22,300. Eight room residence and twenty-two cells.

At 4 o'clock the board awarded the contract to the Pauley company.

MILES WILL NOT TALK

Refuses to Say Anything About the Beef Controversy—President May Act.

Washington, Feb. 2.—[Special]—Gen. Miles resumed his duties at army headquarters this morning. He refused to talk further regarding the beef controversy. That the president will take some action regarding Gen. Miles' utterances is certain. He believes Miles prefers a court of inquiry.

Talk of Adjourning May 1.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—From now on the committees of both houses will be kept at work as steadily as possible, and the republican leaders are already talking of crowding the appropriation bills along so the legislature can adjourn by May 1. Meetings will be held by the appropriations committees every day, and Chairman Curtis of the house committee predicts that the bills will be ready for passage April 1. Heretofore they have dragged along until June 1.

Spanish Warships to Go Home.

New York, Feb. 2.—A dispatch to the Herald from St. Pierre, Martinique, says the Spanish warships now rendezvoused at Fort de France are the Magallanes, Vincente, Yanez Pinzon, Filipinas, Rapido, Marques de la Ensenada, Nueva Espana, Martin Alonzo Pinzon, Diego de Velasquez, Marques de Molina, Vasco Nunez de Balboa and Hernando Cortes. DEMANDS A COURT-MARTIAL.

Secretary Alger Would Discipline Gen. Miles.

APPEALS TO THE PRESIDENT.

The Repeated Charges of Mismanagement of the War Department Made by the Commanding General Have Stirred Up the Secretary.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Washington says:

"Secretary Alger called on President McKinley Wednesday with the latest interview with Gen. Miles, the combination of a series of interviews through which the country has been informed of the alleged negligence of the war department in the war with Spain.

"A court-martial—an immediate court-martial—was the secretary's demand. He presented every argument he could think of to convince the president that Miles' offense against those in authority over him made a case for routine military discipline. But, in case there should be any technical difficulty about compassing the trial of an officer of such high rank, he put it, as the least way in which the war department could assert its dignity, that a court of inquiry should be appointed to determine whether the commanding general should be court-martialed or not.

"As no American commanding general has ever been court-martialed, there is no small perplexity in connection with the problem of dealing with Gen. Miles.

"Nevertheless it is considered quite possible that Secretary Alger may prevail upon the president to appoint a court of inquiry, whose duty it would be to investigate Gen. Miles' alleged transgression of army regulations and make recommendations as to whether or not he is a fit subject for court-martial, and, if so, by what method.

"The burden of the charges against the commanding general is, of course, the accumulation of interviews in which the latter is quoted as criticizing the war department. Another complaint which the secretary will use in his attempt to have Gen. Miles silenced and punished is that the general neglected his duty in failing to report to the secretary.

"President McKinley is anxious to avoid further stirring up of this noisy scandal which would result in anything in the shape of a court-martial. But even his wishes, strongly and repeatedly expressed, have failed to moderate the demands of the secretary of war.

"All these facts were communicated to Gen. Miles by his friends when he returned last evening from New York. The general wore a cheerful air, and did not betray the least perturbation at the court-martial threat."

Says Miles Will Be Relieved.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from Washington says:

"Nelson A. Miles will be relieved of command of the army and either transferred to the command of a department or sent to await orders. The order is now before the president ready for his signature, and it is predicted that he will sign it to-day."

Decides Against the Miners.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—The State board of arbitration has rendered its decision in the Mount Vernon coal case. There was a difference between the Mount Vernon Coal company and its employees as to the mining price, the miners contending for the scale price of 50 cents and the company being unwilling to pay more than 40 cents per ton gross weight. The decision is that the Mount Vernon Coal company pay all miners in its employ 40 cents per ton, run of mine.

ADVENT GOSPEL MEETINGS

A Successful Series Being Conducted at Corn Exchange Hall

The Seventh-Day Adventists are holding meetings in the Corn Exchange hall each night at 7:30. The meetings are well attended, the interest good, and the order perfect. The name which they have taken signifies two important points of their faith. In harmony with the fourth commandment, they observe the seventh day, believing it to be the bible Sabbath. They take the name Adventist because they believe that the second advent of the Lord will take place during the present generation. They believe in order to be translated when Christ comes, that they must be a pure and holy people. They believe that we are made righteous freely; that righteousness is an infinite gift, and bought with an infinite price; that it is a free gift, but has been paid for; that the blood of Christ has paid for it; that Christ puts away our sins and if we but yield ourselves to him they will be remitted utterly; that Christ grants no indulgence, but his righteousness remits the sins that are past, keeps the heart free from sin in the present, so long as his righteousness fills that heart. The bible is their only creed.

THE MARKET REPORT.

Chicago Board of Trade Quotations—Prices for Live Stock.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Wheat had several changes in the course of today's session, but the action of the market appeared to warrant the conclusion that anxious holders had been eliminated by the shake-out of the last few days culminating this forenoon. At the close May wheat had recovered all but 1/4c of an early decline of 1/2c. There was some free general selling by local and outside longs which broke the price of May wheat to 73 3/4c. Fair recovery was made to 74 1/4c by sellers at the close—a net loss on yesterday of but 1/4c. July rested steady at 72 3/4c. Exporters took 34 loads at the coast.

The corn market acted independently strong. May advanced to 37 3/4c, and closed at that high price—a gain of 1/4c. Some $50,000 bu sold here for direct export. At the coast 50 loads were worked.

Pork, lard and ribs all showed some gain at the close. For tomorrow 31,000 hogs are expected to arrive.

Chicago Live Stock Markets.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Only moderate general receipts were here today, but such formed an ample supply of hogs and sheep and prices in those branches showed some decline, while there was demand for all useful cattle well up to the best prices of the week. Average prices for hogs were close to 2 1/2c lower and lambs sold at a big 10c decline. Today's receipts, estimated at 12,500 cattle, 33,000 hogs and 16,000 sheep, making 30,882 cattle, 92,125 hogs and 50,091 sheep for the first half of this week, against 37,681 cattle, 109,765 hogs and 49,540 sheep for the same time last week and 33,277 cattle, 101,850 hogs and 39,810 sheep for the same period last year. Official receipts for January stand 191,564 cattle, 784,513 hogs, and 354,140 sheep, against 213,987 cattle, 757,245 hogs and 319,799 sheep for the first month last year. Average weight of hogs sold here last month, 231 lbs, is 8 lbs lighter than for December and 2 lbs lighter than January last year. Most of the cattle were bought up in good time, and offerings of hogs and sheep were fairly cleared at the reduced prices.

"A Cheerful Idiot," Blondell & Fennessy's masterpiece of mirth and melody, will open the repertoire which includes their comedy successes "A Jay on Broadway," and "The Katzenjammer Kids," at the Myers opera house for three days, commencing Monday, Feb. 6. "A Cheerful Idiot" comprises all that is good in farce comedy, comic opera and extravaganza, cleverly constructed to produce laughter, and never fails to produce that effect wherever presented.

The cast is headed by Edward and Libbie Blondell, comedy delineators; Emory and Nodine, refined singers and instrumentalists; Waller and Waller, musical experts; Armstrong and Porter, comedy duo; Edric Taylor, eccentric dancer; Mamie Hearne, and other well known artists in the dramatic and specialty line.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL SERVICE

Will Be Held at Unitarian Church Sunday Evening

Rev. A. G. Wilson, of Decorah, Iowa, will hold an interesting service at All Soul's Unitarian church on next Sunday evening, such service to be a Lincoln memorial on the life of President Abraham Lincoln.

Rev. Mr. Wilson has prepared an excellent sermon that will deal with the subject, and special music has been provided.

Since coming to Janesville Rev. Mr. Wilson has made a host of friends who will undoubtedly turn out in force Sunday evening.

Services will also be held in the morning.

NO PATIENTS RECEIVED HERE

Sixty Transferred at Oshkosh Yesterday But None to Rock County

Supt. Allen, at the county farm, is congratulating himself on not being obliged to receive any of the sixty patients transferred yesterday from the Northern State hospital for the insane at Oshkosh.

In each case of those returned to the several counties the patient was found incurable and they were taken to the various asylums in the counties where the patients are domiciled. The greatest number goes to the Washington county asylum.

Mesdames Judd and Greenman Will Entertain Next Week

Members of the Tourist club were entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. James Fifeid at her Washington street home. Aside from the regular routine of work several musical selections were rendered by the hostess on the piano, much to the delight of all.

Invitations have been issued by Mesdames W. H. Judd and W. H. Greenman for two ladies' receptions to be given next Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at the St. Lawrence Place home of Mrs. Judd.

Heavy Sales of Mining Stock.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 2.—No call was held on the Colorado Springs Mining Exchange today, business being suspended for a day to allow the clearing house to catch up with its work. The volume of business now being transacted here is unprecedented. Excitement runs high, and the present year gives promise of being the most notable in the history of the Cripple Creek gold camp. The sales each day this week have amounted to about 2,000,000 shares. Late advices from the Isabella property fully confirm all of the reports sent out concerning the marvelous richness of the ore.

Mardi Gras Carnival at New Orleans and Mobile—Excursion Rates.

SCORES OF PERSONS HURT.

Disastrous Fire in the Business Portion of Columbus, Ohio.

CRUSHED BY FALLING WALLS.

Half a Block of Fine Buildings Burned—Several Firemen Injured While at Work—Financial Loss Is Placed at $750,000.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 3.—Half a block of fine buildings in the heart of the business portion of Columbus were burned Wednesday night.

The fire is thought to have started in the basement of the Dunlap building, occupied by the Chicago Bankrupt Clothing company. It swept up the elevator shaft and soon the whole building was ablaze. The fire communicated to the Jones block on the left, and the Soulden & Bright building on the right, and these, with the wholesale millinery store of Soulden & Bright and the store of D. S. Ambach, clothing, were as complete wrecks as the Dunlap building. A fire wall, four feet thick, separated the fine block of Green, Joyce & Co., wholesale dry goods and notions, from the others, but this was no barrier, and at 1 o'clock this morning the fire had eaten its way through and was burning fiercely in the upper stories.

With scarcely any warning, the front and rear walls of the Dunlap building fell, one on High street and the other completely filling the alley in the rear. Several firemen were caught while flying from the crumbling walls, and one is probably dead. The following are the victims:

White Davis, buried under debris, probably dead.

Otis V. Kilbourne, may die.

Cap. Jack Welch, seriously injured.

John Donahue, hurt internally.

Charles Connors, badly injured.

Bob Kerrins, badly injured.

Al Reeves, Pat Sullivan and William Swift are also more or less injured.

Miss Carrie Johnson, knocked down and run over by a hose reel; right leg broken.

Scores of other people were slightly injured. The State Journal places the entire loss at $750,000.

UNCOVER TAXABLE PROPERTY.

Indiana Legislature Advances a Bill with That Purpose in View.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 2.—The senate Wednesday passed the bill prepared by the state commission providing for a uniform system of bookkeeping by the several counties, and authorizing the auditor of the state to make an examination of county affairs regularly.

By just enough votes to pass the bill the house advanced to engrossment a bill under which it is hoped to bring out of hiding a good deal of property for taxation. The bill, by Mr. Herrold, as presented, provides that on the 1st of April, each year, or as soon thereafter as possible, the assessor in each township shall stamp all promissory notes, and that interest on any unstamped note shall not be collectable. The house amended the bill, so as to include "all bonds, certificates of stock and other written obligations."

Special Announcement

For two days this week, Thursday, the 2nd, and Friday, the 3rd, of February, Mr. J. M. Hawes, of Messrs. Arnold, Constable & Co., of New York, will be at our store with samples representing the very latest styles in Dress Goods and Silks for spring and summer wear. Many ladies took advantage of the very rare opportunity to make selections from Arnold, Constable & Co.'s great assortment of Dress Goods and Silks on the two previous occasions that Mr. Hawes was with us, in July and August, 1898. Ladies desiring to get something in dress goods or silks, in any length, and feel that it will not be common, in fact, have the same confined to the purchaser, will appreciate this splendid chance. Messrs. Arnold, Constable & Co. do this with but few merchants, and any woman can readily understand that it would be simply impossible for her to see such an assortment in any retail store in the United States.

COLD CURE

STORY OF A BEGGAR.

It is quite a little story, slight and thin; so thin even, so slight, that I fear, in fixing it on paper with written words, to rob it of its trail grace, its light savor. Why, then, when it was related to us one evening, in all the complicated and decorated luxury of modern talk, by the charming woman who was the heroine of the episode—why did it make such a tenacious impression upon us all that it has become, in one little corner of Parisian life, one of those classic tales, a patrimony of each group of society, to which allusion is always understood and welcomed? Perhaps because it was a clear gap in the chatter of infidelity, in the hackneyed gossip of politics and literature. Perhaps because, as an attitude, a gesture at times may suffice to reveal to us a whole feminine body beneath its clothing—at times it also needs but a few sincere words uttered by a woman to disrobe her soul completely.

We had been talking of mysterious solicitations, today classed and named by science, from which so few of us are exempt, which invincibly compel some, to add up the flowers of a wall-paper, the volumes of a library, everything that is additional, under their eyes; others to impose upon themselves the task, walking along the side path of a street, to reach such a gas-jet before the cab rolling up, behind them is abreast of them, or a public clock has struck its last note, and others, again, each night before going to bed, to practice strange habits of disposing of objects, visiting cupboards and coffers. We discussed all the light diseases of our contemporary brains, crumbs of monomania and madness transmitted by inheritance after inheritance, and finally dispersed throughout the whole of our worn humanity. And we all confessed our weakness, the absurdities of our manias, reassured by the confession of the others, delighted to find them like ourselves, worse even than ourselves.

A young woman had said nothing. She listened to us, a touch of surprise on her peaceful, pretty visage, which was framed by even, black coils.

Somebody asked her: "And you, madam, are you quite free of our modern manias? Have you not a single little nervous habit to confess?"

She appeared to search her memory in all sincerity. She made a sign with her head: "No, no." We felt that she spoke the truth, so much did all that we saw and knew of her, her restful bearing, her renown as an unblemished wife, lift her above the fashionable dolls who had just been confessing the unsettled state of their systems.

Doubtless her modesty feared the boast of so complete an indemnity when everyone around her had acknowledged all sorts of little troubles. She corrected herself:

"Good heavens! I can't say that I habitually add up the cab numbers, or that I make an inventory of all my SLEEPING IN THE SHADE. dresses before going to bed. Still, the other day I experienced something that sufficiently resembles what you have been describing. If I have understood you quite—a kind of interior impulse, a force which compels you to accomplish an indifferent act on the spot, as if it were a matter of life or death."

We insisted on hearing the story, and she told it most graciously, with the air of begging pardon for the claim on the attention of others by so slight an adventure.

"In two words, this is what happened to me. Five or six days ago I had gone out with my little girl, Suzon—you know her, she is—I was taking her to her class, for this big girl already follows classes. As it was very fine we had decided on going on foot by the Champs Elysees and the boulevards from my home to the Rue Lafayette. And so we were walking along quite gay, chattering together, when at the top of the Rond Point a lame man, rather young, limped up to us holding out his hand without saying anything. I carried my parasol in my right hand; with my left hand I held up my skirts; I confessed I had not the patience to stop and hunt for my purse. I went on and gave nothing to the beggar.

"Suzon and I continued to walk along the Champs Elysees. The little one had suddenly ceased to talk, and I also, without quite knowing why, no longer felt any wish to talk. We were at the Place de la Concorde, and yet we had neither of us opened our lips since we had passed the beggar. And little by little I felt stir and increase a kind of inward disquietude, and uneasiness, the feeling of having accomplished an irreparable action, of being threatened, for that very reason, with vague peril in the future. In general, I strive to see clearly within myself, as far as possible. And thus, all in walking, I began to examine my conscience.

"Let us see," I said to myself, 'have I sinned very grievously against charity in giving nothing to that beggar? I never pretend to regard it as my duty to give to every beggar I meet. I will be more generous with the next, that is all.'

"But all my arguments did not succeed in convincing me, and my inward discontent increased—became a sort of anguish, so that ten times I felt a wish to turn back to the spot where we had met that man. Will you believe it? It was a false sentiment of human respect that withheld me from doing so in the presence of my little daughter. We are really worth nothing more the moment we act in view of the judgment of others.

"We had nearly come to the end of our walk and were going to turn the corner of the Rue Lafayette when Suzon pulled gently at my dress to stop me.

"Mamma," she cried.

"What do you want, darling?"

"She fixed her great blue eyes on me and said, gravely:

"Mamma, why did you give nothing to that poor man in the Champs Elysees?"

"Like me, she had thought of nothing else since our meeting with that man; her heart was oppressed like mine; only, better than her mother, or more sincere, she confessed quite simply her uneasiness.

"I did not hesitate an instant. 'You are right, dearest,' I said to her.

"We had walked more quickly than usual, under the obsession of our fixed idea; twenty minutes or so still remained before the class hour. I called a cab, jumped into it with Suzon, and the driver went up the Champs Elysees at a quick pace under promise of a generous tip.

"Suzon and I held each other's hand, and I beg you to believe that we were far from reassured. If the beggar should have gone away? Suppose we could not find him again? Arrived at the Rond-Point, we jumped to the ground; we examined the avenue, there was no beggar. I questioned one of the chair drivers. She remembered having seen him; he was not, she said, one of the habitual beggars of the Rond Point; she did not know what side he had taken. We were pressed for time, we were going away quite distressed, when all at once Suzon perceived the man sitting on his heels behind a tree; he was sleeping in the shade, with his hat between his knees.

"Suzon went up to him on the tip of her toes and slipped a piece of gold into the empty hat, and then we went back to the Rue Lafayette. It was absurd, I know quite well, but we embraced one another as if we had just escaped from a great danger."

The young woman stopped in full silence, blushing rose all over to have spoken at such length about herself. As for us, we had listened to her religiously. We seemed to have breathed a very pure air and to have drunk a very cool water at the source itself.—The Academy.

BOHEMIANS IN LONDON.

The word "bohemian," in the sense of being careless in manner, habit and dress, can scarcely be applied to the modern English artist who has arrived. Take Alma-Tadema, for instance. His hair may perhaps be sometimes too long, his collar too low and his tie negligently worn, but there is always harmony in his design of dress. He would not appear in fashionable London in June wearing anything that would attract attention. But though he rarely wears the conventional silk hat or frock coat, his is a figure so adaptive to the attire that he is noticeable only as a pleasing figure from Bohemia.

Other artists are bohemians only at home and in their own studios. Mr. Orchardson is irreproachable in the matter of dress. When he should do so, he wears the correct attire of an ordinary gentleman. In the studio he works in the artist's loose coat and low collar. Sir Edward Poynter is another who is precise in his habits of dress abroad in the city, but is artistically lax at home or in holiday time.

In London there is another class of bohemians who are perhaps worse offenders. Mr. Bryce, too, is a parliamentary bohemian, who prefers to indulge in the greater luxury of comfort rather than be conventional. In literature, perhaps, bohemianism thrives as well as, if not better than, elsewhere. The novelist usually lives in the country and is away from the restraint of cities, so that he may be as uncouth in his dress as he pleases. Rider Haggard and Grant Allen recognize no conventional laws in this respect. They and others well known to fame prefer to wear the simple dress of country gentlemen, and when they pay their rare visits to town a touch of literary style becomes them well.

I FELT WEAK AND TIRED.

I Lost My Appetite and Could Not Sleep Nights.

Was in a Bad Condition Until I Took Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Under the Use of This Wonderful Remedy I Began to Mend at Once.

Mr. John S. Barnes, manager of the Minneapolis League Team, St. Paul, Minn., says:

"I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness. The dread feeling grew upon me and in a short time took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night which I was certain was before me. Speaking of it to one of my friends, he suggested that I try a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Before I had taken two bottles I realized that the suggestion was a good one, for I immediately began to mend. My appetite returned, and I felt a general improvement. My business matters again became of interest instead of being an irksome grind. I attribute this happy state of affairs solely to the wonderful Dr. Greene's Nervura.

People may well have confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, for it is the prescription of the famous Dr. Greene, 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., who can be consulted without charge at any time, either personally or by letter. Consult him freely, but be sure and use this wonderful Nervura.

A YOUNG MAN'S SUCCESS. How He Secured Happiness—Hope for Others.

Three years ago I was a wreck of manhood, without ambition, energy or hope. I was a victim of secret vice and the fearful results of the vile habit which so often robs men of manhood and health, renders life a burden, business a failure and marriage a disappointment. I was weak, tired, languid, despondent and nervous, together with other symptoms of that disease of error. I felt that my life was blighted and robbed of all that makes life worth living. My wife, whom I loved fondly, almost secretly, and whose love was an inspiration to me to achieve the most of life's opportunities, had changed in a year, from a cheerful, hopeful, light-hearted, happy girl, became discouraged, dissatisfied and careless; disappointment and unhappiness were pictured on her countenance.

I was conscious that my crime against nature, although gone in ignorance and thoughtlessness, was the cause of all my trouble, and I felt like a criminal in hiding, fearing discovery. I was in despair, and often wished the cord of life might be broken and I be released from a bondage which was worse than death.

Today I am well and happy, restored to perfect health and vigorous manhood, relieved of all the effects of disease, and experience joys and happiness that I had never before known.

My wife has experienced as great a change as myself. She is happy and light-hearted as of yore and our baby boy, now sixteen months old, is a perfect picture of health, and when he plays about his mother's knee I think of him as a bond of love, and health and happiness restored, and my heart swells in grateful thanksgiving to the Giver of all good things that with restored health, I can appreciate the greatest pleasures of life, the most exquisite enjoyment and true happiness, such as I believe few men have experienced.

When a man has suffered for many years with a weakness that blights his life, and robs him of all that really makes life worth living, when after years of doctoring with all sorts of advertised remedies and self-styled specialists, he finds a cure that brings back the health and energy that seemed lost forever, he naturally wishes his fellow man to know about it, so that he may be free from the thousands of young, middle-aged, single and married men who are to-day battling with a shattered nervous system as I did. It is for them that I tell this story. While suffering as above I was advised by Rev. H. P. Johnson to consult Dr. N. E. Wood, the celebrated Chicago Specialist. I did so, and he restored me to health and happiness which I would not part with for the wealth of the world. I have asked him to publish this letter for the benefit of others who should seek a cure before it is too late.

I am gratefully yours,
GEO. A. GOODWIN,
743 Madison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Wood may be consulted free at Hotel Myers, Janesville, Wis., Saturday, February 11, one day only. See his advertisement in another column.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness. Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 36 Warren Street, New York.

Dr. Conan Doyle and William Black are bohemians of recognized standing. If Dr. Doyle's appearance is more unconventional than the eye is accustomed to, he has not an enemy in the world to make remark. Mr. Burnand, the editor of Punch, is another. His dress is happy in its negligence—the flowing tie, the turn-down collar and the slightly tilted hat. Mr. Quiller-Couch is a hater of cities, and in his Cornish home his attire goes unremarked among his friends. It is usually one of striking colors.

The smallest things may exert the greatest influence. Do Witt's Little Early Risers are unequalled for overcoming constipation and liver troubles. Small pill, best pill, safe pill. People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1651—Sir William Phillips, or 'Phips,' famous as governor of Massachusetts, born in Pemaquid, Me.; died 1695. Phips reached America on board a ship, where he served as carpenter. He then built a vessel and amassed a fortune by ransoming vessels wrecked on the Bahamas. He commanded the naval forces at the siege of Quebec in 1690.
1848—Treaty of peace between the United States and Mexico signed at Guadalupe; end of Mexican war.
1854—Wendell Phillips, abolitionist and general radical, died in Boston; born there 1812.
1894—The famous war corvet Kearsarge, which vanquished the Confederate cruiser Alabama in 1864, wrecked during a storm on Roncador reef, in the Caribbean sea.
1897—Infanta Maria Louise Fernando (Duchess of Montpensier) of Spain, sister of Queen Isabella, died in Madrid, aged 65.

ARMY DIDN'T "KICK."

The Tampa, Fla., Herald says: "The Herald wants to chip into the present war discussion by stating its positive conviction that the now existing American army is the best clothed, best fed, best cared for, best equipped army that ever assembled on the face of the globe, and that it has done the least fighting and the most kicking of any army that ever drew breath on this or any other planet."

The Herald loses sight of the fact that the "kicking" has been done by the yellow papers, and the officers who had axes to grind. The soldiers have had but few complaints to make, and have done their duty faithfully and well. The man who yells the loudest does not always disseminate the most truth. The army mule may fill the air with his nasal melody, but the patient and uncomplaining artillery horse is the beast that takes the guns into action.

Death of Rev. C. S. Robinson.

New York, Feb. 2.—Rev. Charles Seymour Robinson, the Presbyterian hymn writer, died at his residence, 10 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street. Dr. Robinson had been ill for weeks, and in the past few days had barely hovered between life and death.

MAKING HASTE SLOWLY.

The Ingenious Husband Plays a Mean Trick on His Wife.

"My wife never appears to be happy," said Dodson wearily, "unless she has some sort of a fad. Just at present it is Emerson. One of the innumerable clubs that she belongs to has started on a course of study along the line of that impenetrable mystery, and my wife has taken it up with an enthusiasm worthy of a better cause."

"She has made it a sort of religion to read one hour every night from Emerson's essays, and I wouldn't object to that if she would keep quiet, but just as soon as I get interested in a political article she breaks in, and, with her face glowing with enthusiasm, insists on reading an extract from Emerson that she calls simply sublime. Then I am obliged to listen to a long essay of big words that would sound just the same if they were read backward, and then when I ask what it is all about she flares up and says that I have no appreciation of the inner soul of a superior intelligence—whatever that may mean."

"I picked up the book the other day and chanced to notice that my wife had carefully marked the place where she had left off the night before with a hairpin. An idea occurred to me, and I set the hairpin back 20 pages, which is her usual limit at one time."

"The next evening she started in where I had placed the hairpin and read through to where she had left off the evening before without noticing that she was going over old ground."

"I have kept it up now for two weeks, and she is still reading the same 20 pages, totally unconscious that she is reading the same thing over and over."

"I am really growing interested in the matter. I notice that now and then she examines the remaining pages rather anxiously, as if she realizes that she is not making the progress that she ought."

"She has now become so anxious to get through, so that she will be able to say that she has read Emerson, that she no longer bothers me with extracts, and I can read my paper in peace."

"Meanwhile I simply chuckle to myself and take care that the hairpin is set back 20 pages every day."—Detroit Free Press.

An Economical Move.

Mr. Spriggs—My dear, it won't be necessary for you to go to the auction at Mr. Sellout's tomorrow.

Mrs. Spriggs—There may be two or three things there that I want, and, besides, I enjoy going to auctions.

"There won't be any auction there." "Why not?"

"I stopped in today and bought everything he had at private sale."

"Everything? Private sale? Are you crazy? What in the world did you do that for?"

"Because I didn't want you to go tomorrow and pay three or four prices for everything."—New York Weekly.

Still Another Caviling Husband.

"What do you think of that fire?" asked the young wife, pointing with pride to the kitchen range, with which she had been occupied for an hour.

"Well," jawed the husband, rubbing his half opened eyes, "it's pretty good, but it's not as good as mother used to make."—Yonkers Gazette.

Evidently.

"I see," remarked the observant boarder, "that a person who tried to commit suicide and failed has been fined $10."

"It would have been money in his pocket if he had succeeded," commented the cross eyed boarder.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Women Artists.

The women artists whom the three prominent art institutions of New York are turning out yearly are taking their places among illustrators and colorists of the day and winning acknowledgments of their ability. In some branches their work is liked even better than that of men, as the touch is lighter.

But the charge of a lack of humor in the feminine mind is made here as elsewhere. A woman cartoonist or caricaturist has, so far, not appeared. It has been suggested that a certain coarseness necessary in the treatment of such pictures may have been the reason women have not tried to acquire the knack of making them.

BENEFIT FOR A VENERABLE COUPLE

MR. AND MRS. R. R. ANGELL ARE PROFITED.

Fine Entertainment Given by Their Friends of the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Allied Fraternities Last Evening—Much Talent Was Displayed by Participants.

The benefit given last evening to Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Angell, by their friends of the Odd Fellow and Masonic fraternity was highly successful both financially and socially. The affair was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Charles W. Schwartz, Mrs. Neva Holmes, Mrs. George Warren and Miss Anna Engelbreton, of America Lodge, No. 26, Daughters of Rebekah; C. W. Schwartz and George Winslow, of Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, Independent Order Odd Fellows; Frank Blanchard and Leslie Holmes, of Janesville Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F.; Mrs. Lewis Trumble and Mrs. Josephine Hankey, of Janesville Lodge No. 171, D. of R.; W. H. Merritt, Mrs. John Peters and Mrs. C. B. Evans, of the Masonic lodges and the Order of the Eastern Star.

The orchestra from the State School for the Blind furnished the music for the occasion, and that it was good music goes without saying.

Miss Alta Palmer recited "Aunt Melissa on Boys" in a manner that won for her loud and hearty applause, after which Col. E. O. Kirby sang with much expression the popular song of the day, "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky." The reading, "A Woman's Devotion," by Miss Etta Brown, was excellently done, and she was rewarded by a hearty recall.

"When I Leave You" was beautifully sung by a male quartette consisting of E. O. Smith, Andrew G. Pond, Will A. Pond, and Archie Crawford, and the audience demanded more of the same sort. The quartette complied by rendering "Fishin'," a humorous and very pleasing selection. Miss Ada Pond proved herself a fine accompanist.

Clara Schwartz, a petite little miss, recited "My Grandmother" in a naive and pleasing manner, and was greeted with loud applause. The orchestra again played, to the great delight of the audience, which demanded an encore, when Miss Luella Conroy recited with much expression "The Gossips," one of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's most popular poems. So well pleased was the audience that Miss Conroy was obliged to respond to an enthusiastic encore.

"Sergeant McGee," an Irish song, was capitally rendered by Charles H. Patterson, and he responded to an encore with a German selection, "Jockey, Jump the Baby," which brought down the house.

Miss Ethel Pond, but seven years old, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Pond, sang in an exquisite manner "Life's Lullaby," and in response to an encore sang "Now You Think You're Awful Smart," in a very taking style. Her vocalization was marvelously perfect for one so young.

Miss Daisy MacLean danced the highland fling in costume in a decidedly artistic manner, and brought forth the loudest applause of the evening. She obligingly responded to an encore.

"He Had His Rabbit's Foot With Him" was sung by Miss Mamie and Master Willie Curtess, in faultless style, while their selection sang in response to an encore, "There's No Flag but the Red, White and Blue," aroused the most fervid enthusiasm of all present.

Mrs. J. B. Day never fails to please, and last night's rendition of "When the Light Goes Out" was no exception. The humorous selection she gave as an encore was keenly appreciated and loudly applauded.

James A. Fathers thanked those present for the interest they had manifested in the evening's entertainment, and a supper and dance followed.

More than a hundred dollars were realized by the entertainment, a sum sufficient to supply the immediate needs of the beneficiaries.

TWO CLASSES CLASH IN CHICAGO SCHOOL

DR. T. B. WIGGINS' PUPILS ARE AT OUTS.

Women Get Angry During His Lecture Because He Quoted Predecessor's Language to Them—Made Students Back Him Up—Another Professor Now in Charge.

Janesville friends of Dr. Twing B. Wiggins were much amused when they read an article in the Chicago Times-Berald this morning, telling about the clash between the male and female students in the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Twing B. Wiggins, professor of physiology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, has had trouble with his "hen medics." The result is that his feathers have begun to fly, and now another learned professor is delivering words of wisdom about the human body to the freshman class in his stead, says The Times-Herald.

"The end is not yet. The fate of the professor, victim of petticoat medical wrath, bids fair to bring about open warfare in the college halls. Amazon against Greek it is to be. The men students have risen in rebellion against the exercise of woman's influence in college affairs. This morning they are to have a mass meeting to discuss the situation."

What Made the Professor Unpopular.

"The trouble began Tuesday morning. Professor Wiggins was discoursing as is his wont, about the beauties of the human body. But there were some things he mentioned that were not so beautiful. Talking about the digestive system he compared the two sexes. He grew eloquent on the subject. Finally he wound up his remarks as follows: 'In the language of my distinguished predecessor, woman is nothing but a two-legged dyspeptic owl.'"

"In the slang of the medical college, the woman student is known as a 'hen medic.' And as soon as the doctor had finished the 'hen medics' began to cackle."

"Nevertheless the women drew the first blood in the conflict. They sent a petition to the faculty stating the offense of their professor, and requesting that, as he was manifestly wanting in proper courtesy and respect of women medical studenthood, he should be unceremoniously ousted. And the answer was the notice posted on the college bulletin board yesterday morning that Prof. John A. Benson would conclude the lectures in Dr. Wiggins' place."

Male Students in Retaliation.

"The college drama had now become a tragedy, but their was still another act to be played. The male students began to consult. 'What,' they said, shall we allow our beloved Professor Wiggins to be displaced and thus bowed to the earth in disgrace at the whim of a few wandering 'hen medics'? Never will the dignity of our sex brook such an insult. Aye, we will first crowd those five scrawny hen medics off the roost and then will we burst forth in clarion cock-a-doodle doos all the day long. And, seriously speaking, if the women come to the class room let them take what comes to them. Fine susceptibilities have no place in the lecture hall. Jokes must be made to cheer us in our palms, and if the hens mean death to the jokes, then on the spot we swear death to the hens."

To Hold Mass Meeting.

"Whereupon they sent a delegation consisting of the class president and two other freshmen to call upon Dr. Wiggins last evening and assure him of their distinguished consideration."

"The freshman class will hold a mass meeting at 8:45 this morning to decide upon a future course of conduct toward professors and women. Members of other classes have been invited to attend."

"No member of the faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons was willing to discuss the incident last evening. Dr. William E. Quine, dean of the college, verified the facts, however, and added that the faculty was not stirred up in any way about the matter."

STARTS FOR CALIFORNIA.

Governor Scofield Goes to See a Sick Son on the Pacific Slope.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 2.—Gov. Scofield left at noon today for Pasadena, Cal. It is probable that he will be gone at least several weeks. The governor's son, Paul, who with Mrs. Scofield went to California nearly two months ago for his health, is not so well, and the governor is quite worried about him. Gov. Scofield himself is not in the best of health and thinks a visit to California would benefit him. Lieut. Gov. Jesse Stone will be acting governor until Gov. Scofield's return.

DEMISE OF SAMUEL CLARK

For Many Years He Made Janesville His Home

J. Arnold, of this city, received a telegram yesterday from F. J. Clark, Jr., of Galesburg, Ill., announcing the death of Samuel Clark, which took place in that city yesterday afternoon.

Deceased for many years made this city his home, and he will be well remembered by many. He was a man beloved by a large circle of friends. The remains will arrive in the city Friday and will be interred in Oak Hill cemetery.

SHELDON ONE OF COMMITTEE

Wisconsin Retail Hardware Association Honors Him Yesterday

At a meeting of the Wisconsin Retail Hardware association held in Milwaukee yesterday A. H. Sheldon, of this city, was chosen as a member of the committee on resolutions.

It was the second session of the third annual convention of the association, the previous session being one of the executive committee. An emphatic protest was made against the sale by manufacturers of their hardware products to "catalogue" houses or department stores, that carry comparatively little hardware stock. It is probable that a resolution will be adopted today favoring the retention upon the statutes of the present lien law, in which members of the Builders' and Traders' exchange of Milwaukee, have been advocating a change. Another subject that received attention today is the formation of a national organization of retail hardware dealers.

More Fighting Expected.

Apia, Samoa Island, Jan. 24, Via Auckland, N. Z., Feb. 2.—There has been no further general fighting between the partisans of the rival chiefs since the last advice was forwarded, except that a party of Mataafa's followers was routed in the bush by Malietoa. It is expected, however, that fighting will be resumed, as Mataafa is rearming persons who have been already fined and released.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR MISS WILLARD

STEPS TAKEN AT MEETING HELD TODAY.

The Local W. C. T. U. Ladies' Are Laying Plans Toward Honoring the Memory of One They Loved—Services Will be Held Here on February 17.

Members of the local W. C. T. U. met this afternoon at the South Jackson street home of Mrs. W. J. Knights. The meeting was well attended, the object being to lay plans for the holding of a memorial service to be given in this city in honor of the anniversary of Miss Willard's death, which is Feb. 17.

The day will be observed by exercises of an appropriate nature, and an excellent program is now being planned. At Evanston, Ill., the late home of Miss Frances Willard, services of an impressive nature are being outlined, at which meeting the first public move will be made to arouse enthusiasm in the plan of Mrs. T. O. Reilly to place a marble bust of Miss Willard in the capitol at Washington. The legislature of the state will be appealed to, and Senator Bogardus has agreed to introduce a bill at this session asking it to be put up by the state.

William H. Jacobs, of Madison, was in the city yesterday on his way to Evanston for the purpose of collecting $1,000 from the members of the W. C. T. U. of that town and from the friends of Francis Willard. It is his intention to give to the city of Madison a park of 200 acres, situated near the grounds of the University of Wisconsin, and if the citizens of Evanston are willing to donate the money for beautifying the grounds he will name it Willard Park.

Mr. Jacobs was for many years a resident of South Evanston but bought several hundred acres of ground on the outskirts of Madison some years ago and moved there.

LAPPIN BLOCK CHANGES OWNERS

HAYES BROTHERS PURCHASE
VALUABLE PROPERTY.

One of the Most Desirable Business Corners is Sold by Executor of the Lappin Estate—It Will be Remodeled Into a Modern Office Structure.

Dennis and Michael Hayes, of this city, who for some time past have been negotiating for the purchase of the Thomas Lappin block at the corner of Milwaukee and Main streets, and which fact was foreshadowed in The Gazette some time ago, are now owners of this valuable piece of real estate, the papers being drawn up late yesterday afternoon. The price paid was $45,500. The new owners will make several needed improvements in the structure, which will make a vast difference in its appearance. The block is one of the early landmarks, is four stories high and is occupied on the ground floor by the Bower City bank, A. H. Sheldon & Co., hardware; George Citron, fruits and confectionery; Michael H. Bradley, news dealer; S. O. Burnham & Co., jewelers, and a Syrian candy store.

Previous to the erection of the present brick structure there stood on the corner, where the Rower City bank now occupies space, a two story frame house that at present adjoins the A. N. Jones tobacco warehouse on North Main street. This frame building was occupied by T. B. Woolscroft, who conducted a restaurant.

TWO WEDDINGS YESTERDAY

Justice Richardson Married a Couple Who Bailed From Madison

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock a strange couple walked arm-in-arm into Justice Richardson's office and stated that they wanted to get married. Justice Richardson in his usual obliging way then did the rest.

The groom gave his name as Louis Dolke and the bride Julia Peterson. They reside in Madison.

Maxfield-Gateley.

At the Milwaukee avenue home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gateley, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock was solemnized the wedding of Miss Mary Minerva Gateley and Alvin D. Maxfield, Rev. Father W. A. Goebel officiating. The groom was attended by his brother, Harry Maxfield, while Miss Elizabeth Cunningham, of Beloit, acted as bridesmaid. Relatives and a few intimate friends were present, the wedding march being played by Miss Nettie Servatius and Mr. Servatius. Following the showering of hearty congratulations a reception followed attended by Mr. and Mrs. James Lilburn, who were married last Jan. 18.

The bride is a worthy young lady, while the groom is a prosperous farmer of the town of Janesville. A host of local friends extend hearty congratulations.

Given a Welcome Home.

Mrs. Susan Parker spent a few days with relatives in Beloit last week. During her absence a number of her friends planned a surprise on her. Saturday evening twenty-five ladies invaded the Prospect avenue home and proceeded to prepare a royal reception for Mrs. Parker upon her return. As each lady had come well supplied with choice viands an elegant supper was prepared and to say that Mrs. Parker was surprised when she came home from Beloit on the 6:30 train is putting it mildly. A most delightful evening was spent in card playing and social intercourse. The occasion was the anniversary of Mrs. Parker's seventy-fifth birthday.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOHN HEATH

Held This Afternoon From the Congregational Church.

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. John Heath, who died at her home in Winnetka, Ill., was laid to rest this afternoon in Oak Hill cemetery. The remains arrived in this city this afternoon and were taken to the Congregational church where impressive services were held conducted by Rev. Robert C. Denison assisted by the Rev. Mr. Dodd, of Winnetka. The edifice was well filled with many friends of the deceased, several in attendance being from out of the city. The floral offerings were many and beautiful several being designs of a costly nature. A beautiful pillow of flowers was presented by the employees of the Janesville shops of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, who had been associated with Mr. Heath in the past. The deceased was a woman beloved by all and her demise will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

Mrs. John Crall.

Mrs. John Crall, one of the early settlers in the county, died at the home of Mrs. Amos Crall on North Jackson street this afternoon. Death was caused by the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Crall was the mother of Amos, Joshua and Chris Crall and Mrs. Charles Skelly.

JUST FOR THEIR AMUSEMENT

Fire Department Gave Oconto Aldermen an Exhibition Run

At 1:45 o'clock this afternoon an alarm of fire was turned in from box 32, located at the corner of Main and Racine streets. Several of the city officials from Oconto are in the city for the purpose of inspecting the recently macadamized streets of Janesville, and just for a little amusement on the side Chief Spencer had the alarm sent in. The Oconto officials expressed themselves as being highly pleased with our model department, and were surprised to find that a city the size of Janesville supported such an excellent one.

The delegation consists of Ald. Frank Rice, Street Commissioner George Smith, Ald. Joseph Hall, Ald. Joseph Poquette, and Ald. L. Eggert. The party left this afternoon for Rockford, Ill., where they will make a thorough inspection of the street paving methods in vogue there.

SHIPS LEAF TO STOUGHTON

J. S. Hutson Will Not Rent Tobacco Warehouse in Janesville

James S. Hutson, the well known leaf tobacco buyer who is now making this city his headquarters, will not rent a warehouse in Janesville. He now has two model houses, and will in the future ship all leaf purchased here direct to Stoughton for storage.

Considerable leaf tobacco from all portions of the county was brought in to the city today, and the greater portion of it was received by Mr. Hutson, who made a four car shipment from here.

PELONEIS ENTERS A DENIAL.

Man Who Was Stabbed Says He Was Not "Crazy Drunk."

W. R. Peloneis denies the statements that he was drunk during the trouble with Mr. Gilmartin, during which he was cut in the neck with a knife. He claims that he had only drunk four or five glasses of beer, and was sober.

"I do not think such statements in the papers do me justice," he said today. "If I had been 'frantic with liquor' I should probably have resisted and the row would have been worse than it was. I was not drunk, and think I have enough 'the worst of it' without that statement being made."

Claim Paid Promptly.

The Northwestern Benevolent society, of Duluth, Minn., a society that pays both sick and accident benefits, commenced doing business in Janesville last September. The late Erick Erickson, of McKague & Erickson, held a policy with the company. His claim was sent in a few days after his death, and a check was issued the day the proof was received.

This being the first claim paid here by this company it will be of interest to the other members to know that this claim was paid so promptly, and the following letter from the beneficiary, Miss Mary Erickson, his sister, shows that she appreciates the prompt way this society has of doing business. W. E. Lvenson, of the People's Drug store, is collector for the society for Janesville and vicinity.

Janesville, Feb. 1, 1899.—Mr. V. D. Cliff, secretary Northwestern Benevolent Society, Duluth, Minn.: Dear Sir: My brother, Erick Erickson, who died recently, held policy No. 69,331 in your society, and I was made beneficiary. Your district manager, Mr. Holderly, has just handed me checks for $186.61, which is pay in full for the time my brother was sick and the full amount of death benefit. The check was issued the day the proof was received. Such promptness speaks well for your society, and by such promptness the money comes at a time when one most needs it. Wishing your company success, and assuring you that I appreciate your honorable and prompt way of doing business, I am Yours very truly,

Miss Marie Erickson, Sister of Erick Erickson, deceased.

Notice to Stockholders

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Loan, Savings and Building Association, of Janesville, Wis., for the purpose of electing officers and directors and the transaction of such other business proper, will be held at the municipal court room, Monday, Feb. 6, 1899, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. Members (except ladies) not present are subject to a fine of $50, unless excused as provided in the by-laws.

A. P. BURNHAM, Secretary.

THEY WERE ALL EXPANSIONISTS

MEN'S SUPPER AT THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Military and Naval Heroes of the War With Spain Were Represented—Some of the Characters Were Cleverly Portrayed—An Admirable Entertainment.

The national expansion supper given last evening by the Men's club of the Congregational church was a very successful affair in every respect. The attendance was quite large, and the tables were spread with the most tempting viands of every description. Everything was under control of the men, who acted as waiters and hosts as well. The entertainers were attired to represent celebrities who have recently come into national prominence, and received their guests in right royal style. There were all the heroes of the late war with Spain in full uniform, as well as the heroes represented by nurses of the Red Cross, and under their able management all went well, and everyone present pronounced the affair an unqualified success.

W. S. Jeffris represented Queen Lil; Dr. L. C. Hedges was Col. Theodore Roosevelt; Harry McNamara simulated Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac; C. A. Thompson was an exceedingly savage Aguinaldo; A. E. Matheson appeared to unusual advantage as a prominent newspaper correspondent; Capt. C. H. Hanson appeared as Kellar; Norman F. Cowles made an excellent midshipman, while Frank Reynolds and Claude Hollis represented the army of Uncle Sam, and Collin Samuels was a military attaché who had won a medal for bravery. Uncle Sam was there, of course, John H. Nicholson typifying him to perfection. The Red Cross society was represented by three young ladies, Misses Ella Sutherland, Jeanette Sayre and Grace Blabon, and they looked charming in their simple nurses' garb.

The arrangement of the details of the entertainment could not be improved upon, and every one present expressed the most unbounded satisfaction with the affair as a whole.

The Perilous Venture of Lady Ackland.

BY CLINTON ROSS.

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY CLINTON ROSS.

CHAPTER III.

And I awoke in a room with an outlook on a hillside, and a man I did not know, who told me later, as I gained strength, how Miss Essex had succeeded in getting to an American post, where she had found help to fetch me, near dead with loss of blood, to General Gates' camp. The chaplain Brudenell had been frightened at the shots for the safety of Lady Harriet, and had hastened down the river. He already had been in advance, I having delayed, as I have said, during the talk with Miss Essex, and Lady Harriet now had proceeded to Albany, as the major had recovered sufficiently. With the Baroness Riedesel they were enjoying General Schuyler's hospitality.

"The baroness!" said I. "I thought we left her with Burgoyne."

"General Burgoyne, with all his army, surrendered to General Gates at Saratoga."

"And where have I been all this time?"

"You were delicious for ten days."

"And the world has changed," said I. "What did I have about?"

"I never remember what my patients have about," said my doctor, lying glibly, but with a peculiar smile that made me wonder if he had not heard much of my recent experiences.

"Doctor," I cried, "my papers?"

"There were none," said the surgeon, entering from the adjoining room.

"That I am aware of—excepting a letter Miss Essex left."

I broke this open, reading:

DEAR MR. SCHUYLER—I have put your papers, sealed and addressed to you, in General Schuyler's hands. Be assured to hold them until such time as you may be better, which I hope may not be long. I was fearful they might fall into improper hands, and hence the precaution. If I should not see you again—and I must not wish to do so—may I say that our experience together has lessened somewhat our old difference?

K. ESSEX.

In those days my constitution was more vigorous than the young man of today have. In ten days I was able to walk; in two weeks could sit a horse. With some officers of Gates, I proceeded to Albany, where I hoped to find Miss Essex.

On the road down, which we took by slow stages, I reflected that she probably would not care to see me and that she would be sorry enough now for her impulsiveness that night. But at least I could pay my respects to the Schuylers and Lady Ackland. That would be only mannerly, and of course I need not ask for her at all. Considering the matter, I thought that perhaps I should better ask for her and leave it to her discretion whether or no she would see me.

CHAPTER IV.

Now, General Schuyler's house was in those days the best in Albany, generous in hospitality. Here 20 covers had been laid for General Burgoyne and his officers, and here, my friend, as I always counted her, Lady Ackland, had a visit that must have been particularly pleasant after the hardships she had known. When I arrived, I was told that the Acklands and Miss Essex intended leaving next day for New York. At the same time Mrs. Schuyler handed me the papers Miss Essex had left with the general, the seal unbroken. I had written the general I would see him in Albany, but, being called away unexpectedly, he had left the package.

I asked, of course, for Lady Harriet, but not for Miss Essex, when Mrs. Schuyler said that Miss Essex had left in the saddle with one of the Miss Schuylers.

I hardly recognized Lady Ackland, rest and peace of mind having taken the lines from her face.

"I was a fright, I know," she declared. "In those horrid days, I believe we abandoned Kate and you. You don't know how dreadfully I suffered on that account."

While we were talking Kate Essex rode up in Miss Schuyler's company.

I could not keep my eyes off from her with whom I had become involved so strangely. The habit she wore brought out her figure, and just now the fine face (for fine it ever seemed) was flushed from her center.

She, seeing me, started slightly, I thought, and then extended her hand as if nothing had happened between us.

"I am glad to see that you are recovered from your wound, Mr. Sedley."

I mumbled out some clumsy answer at which I was ashamed, yet, as a matter of fact, I really never was more embarrassed. Presently, after some remarks, Lady Ackland, Miss Schuyler and the major left us, when she turned, her eyes flashing.

"How dared you force your presence on me, Mr. Sedley? Our adventure gives you no privilege. We are back in our old position toward each other. You're a rebel!"

"You may be in the old place," said I, getting back my voice, "but I never can be, Miss Essex, after that night!"

"Forget it, as I have," said she, red-denying.

"Not even when you ask me can I! I am human, and I was bound to see you—just once more—to tell you I thank you."

"It was but common humanity!"

"The sweetest humanity!"

"Oh," said she, "I know better."

But then she began to laugh, which emboldened me, and I told her what you may guess, when she looked at me now soberly.

"I don't believe I have the strength to be else than silly. Be you rebel or king's man I will say yes to you. You are so stubborn," she added.

But, starting to tell what I knew of General Burgoyne's mishap, here I have been on my own story. Well, the fact is that surrender holds many a good story. I will but hint of one more. You know that Major Ackland was killed in a duel in London because he maintained the bravery of American officers. Lady Ackland mourned him bitterly, but at last was consoled by the chaplain, Brudenell, who roved her that night to the safety of General Gates' camp. My dear Kate nodded her head when she heard this.

"Many serious consequences followed that defeat," said she.

"General Gates conquered General Burgoyne, and I Kate Essex," said I.

"Did you?" said she, tossing her head.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Micropoly (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from la grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for la grippe, and its exhausting after effects. Never fails. People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

UNNATURAL HISTORY.

Being a Little About the Land of the Dervishes.

Egypt is as full of sand, as are soldiers. It is famous for camels, which can tramp themselves across the desert and arrive, after days on the burning plain, in as good form as when they started, which is not saying much. The camel is a most aus animal, for it can go nine days without taking a drink. In this it differs from us, thank goodness.

Ramesses I once ruled over Egypt and invented a great game, which is played today, called, after him, Pharaoh, or Pharaoh. The early Egyptians were French, as is proved by the fact that they were bakers of the children of Israel.

One of the chief works of this epoch was the construction of the pyramids, which were erected to make learned men ask questions. The pyramids were weather bureaus, and the Egyptians could tell the weather for five years in advance. I have studied their methods, and as nearly as I can tell without a pyramid at hand the weather in London for the next five years will be fog, rain and wind, alternately separate and mixed, with cracks of sunshine in the summer months, but not enough to bother us in our calculations.

The cause of the decline from power of the Egyptians was their language, which some of them really understood, but the toil of acquiring it was too much and destroyed their strength in the course of a few thousand years. The chief river in Egypt is the Nile. Ignorant Russians believe that all the inhabitants of Egypt are nihilists, which is the reason Russia wishes to disarm.

The Egyptians had some curious funeral customs. When a person died, he was bound over to keep the pieces. The last adjuration to the defunct was: "Mum's the word!"

This is the origin of the word mummy. (See Petrie, volume 6, page 342, note 4.) I forgot to mention, in speaking of the burning plain (see supra), that naughty devils are sent from the pit of fire to the desert for their punishment. The poor fiends sit on the sand and cry for the sweet coolness of home. I shall refrain from calling attention anew to the fact that the Kitchener is within range of the enemy and about to cook the khalifa's goose. According to Grimm's law, dervish is the native word corresponding to our word devil. The modern sphinx, symbol of Egypt, is a lion.—Judy.

NEW DESIGNS IN TABLE LINEN.

What the Sales of January Will Display to the Buyer.

Now that Christmas has given place to the first of the new year, the thoughts of the thrifty housekeeper will rapidly be busy with the linen sales of January the sales that replenish the shelves and drawers in the huge linen closet and fill the sideboard with quantities of beautiful napkins and table draperies.

Plain white linen, embroidered only in white, is the character of all the best new tea cloths and center pieces, though white lace has not lost one whit of its popularity. From the inexpensive renaissance to the most exquisite duchess and rose point dinner tables are resplendent, and some of the point lace center pieces are splendid enough to serve as the bridal handkerchief for royal princesses. They are rather small and the lace is set flat on a round or scalloped center of finest French batiste that is embroidered in a wreath of white flowers.

In consequence of this lavish use of lace nearly all the most formal dinners of the past spring and of the present autumn have been served on bare boards. The lace center piece, accompanied by plate, decanter and candleabra dollies, is laid on the brilliantly polished naked mahogany or dull black oak in order to achieve the best effect and show just how beautiful your lace set is. The same scheme is followed where the board is ornamented with a set of Mexican drawn work, and though the rule is all for white, some women gild refined gold by embroidered, in colored floss, sprays and bouquets, both on renaissance lace and on drawn work. The consequence is brilliant, certainly, but scarcely so refined in appearance as the pure white.

Luncheons, suppers, and midday breakfasts are now so universally served on the boards, with dollies only, that the handsomest dark tablecloths are looking for jobs or bargain counters, and the smartest little breakfast cloth one can use, informally and en famille, is a large square of hemstitched linen that is damasked all over, but not in figures, and then richly wrought in white Swiss embroidery.

Great attention is given to the designs done in this new needlework. It would require too much space to describe the Jacobean, Egyptian, and Henry Deaux patterns that are stamped on these squares for working and that emanate from able artists in London and Paris. Quite as highly esteemed as the beautiful Mexican drawn work is that which comes from Russia. It is different from the Mexican, being done in heavy home-woven linen in the natural or half-bleached tints of the flax.

From Russia is brought over also the almost forgotten art of doing out work. The patterns on the handsome linen squares are first embroidered and then cut out until the finished piece resembles a sort of superb lace. With all these articles the owner's initials are worked in one corner of the narrow hem.

Scotch Simplicity.

The Scotch are fond of telling stories which illustrate the peculiar simplicity of mind of their country people. This simplicity at least saves them from wicked guile. One of these stories relates that an honest mason once had a contract to build a small house of stone. He came early and began from the inside to lay the stone, working very fast. At noon his young son brought him his dinner, peeping over the wall as he handed the basket to his father. With honest pride in his eye, the mason looked over to the boy.

"Weel, Jock, hoo d'ye think I'm getting on?" he asked. "Ye're getting on famous, feyther," answered Jock, looking at the solid wall, in which there was no break "but hoo d'ye get oot?" The mason looked around. It was true. He had provided the house with no door at all, and he was on the inside. He looked kindly and very admiringly at the boy. "Mon, Jock, ye've a great heid on ye!" he exclaimed. "Ye'll be an architect yet, as sure as yer feyther's a mason!" Another story shows how unsuccessful as a thief the rustic Scot may be. Two young plowmen went into a garden at night to steal gooseberries. The bushes surrounded a plot of potatoes, and as one of the lads groped about he got a handful of potato plums, which he quickly put into his mouth. Then he gasped to his comrade: "Oh, Jock, I'm poisoned!" For any sake, shove me through the hedge again, for I woulna like to die 't the auld man's garden!"

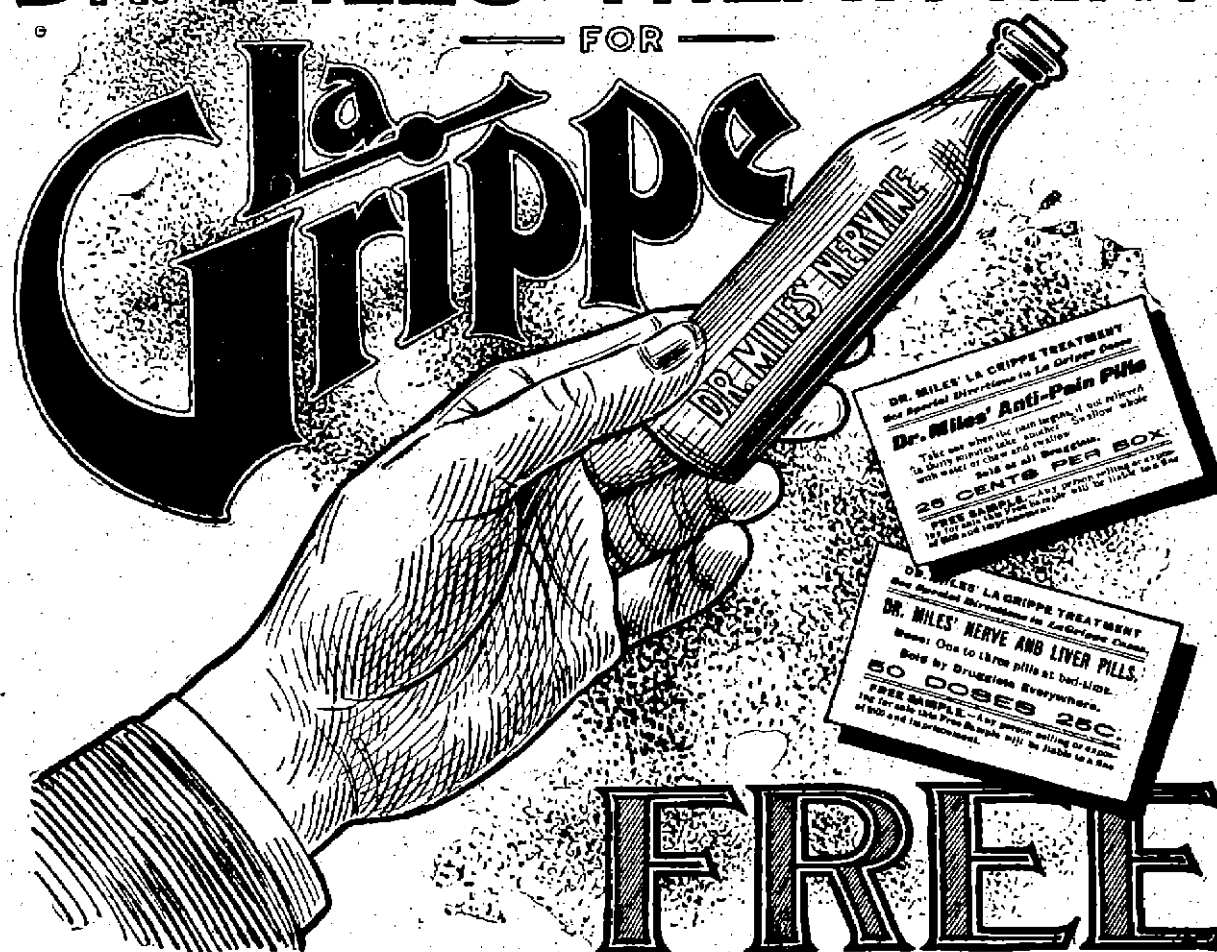

La grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avoid it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Eldon Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for la grippe." Pleasant to take. Quick to act. People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Additional Home Seekers' Excursion.

Home seekers' excursion round trip tickets to points in southern, southwestern, western and northern states on other lines; and points in Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas on its own lines will be sold by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway on Jan. 17, Feb. 7 and 21, at half fare plus $2. Tickets are limited to twenty-one days for return passage.

Horrible agony is caused by Piles, Burns and Skin Diseases. These are immediately relieved and quickly cured by De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of worthless imitations. People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee.

DR. MILES' TREATMENT

A Contribution to LaGrippe Sufferers.

So severe are the symptoms which accompany attacks of the grip, and so dangerous and far reaching are its effects upon the vitality of the system, that it is not safe for the unfortunate sufferer from this dread disease to neglect the proper care and treatment. Neither is it wise to squander valuable time in experimenting with new and untried remedies. Long before La Grippe made its appearance for the first time the

Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies were known and recognized by the people as valuable medicines. They were designed to meet and overcome just such conditions and just such troubles as accompany and follow attacks of grip. So when the pestilence first swept over the land nine years ago, carrying sickness and death to so many sufferers, there were thousands upon thousands who were rescued from grip's terrible grasp and restored to health and happiness through the virtue of Dr. Miles' Remedies. As year after year has passed by other thousands who have been suffering from the terrible after effects of the grip have found in these remedies their only source of relief and restoration to health.

The grip germs always attack the nerves and weaken the whole system by exhausting the vitality from the nerve centers, and the one great remedy which seldom fails to overcome this action is Dr. Miles' Nerve. It soothes and quiets the irritated nerves; it builds up the vitality and replenishes the wasting nerve force as fast as disease tears it down. It puts new life into every muscle, organ and tissue, and so strengthens the system that it can throw off the deadly grip germs and resist further attacks of the disease.

The congestion of the small blood vessels and capillaries which naturally follow the loss of nerve force in the smaller nerve centers, resulting in aches and pains throughout the body, in fullness of the head, in irritation of the mucous membranes and frequently in fever, is best overcome by the use of the Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. These pills stop the irritation and the aches and remove the fever without depressing the heart's action, deranging the stomach or otherwise interfering with the healthy action of the body.

It is very important in all cases of La Grippe that the bowels should be quickly cleared and kept naturally open, that the waste products of disease may be quickly got rid of; and for this purpose there is no remedy equal to Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. These wonderful little pills owe their remarkable healing and restorative properties to the fact that they act directly upon the thousands of little nerves located in the abdominal region, thus enabling them to perform their duties regularly and naturally. They do not pain nor gripe.

The three remedies then, which go to make up the best grip treatment in the world are Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. In order that every sufferer from this dread disease or its terrible after effects may have an opportunity of testing for themselves the virtues of this great treatment, a sample of each of these remedies will be sent upon request to any address, absolutely free of cost. Remember that none of the Dr. Miles' Remedies contain opium, morphine, chloral, cocaine or other dangerous drugs, which only stupefy the senses without removing the cause of the trouble.

To Obtain Treatment Free.

All that is necessary to obtain this free trial treatment and test for yourself is to send your name and address on a postal card, mentioning that you saw this offer in this paper, requesting the samples, and they will be mailed to you at once. Address: DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

The American Beauty Chocolate Creams

These Creams are not flavored with flavoring extracts, but with grated fruits and nuts, which makes them better and more expensive than any other creams on the market. C. A. Sanborn & Co., have secured the exclusive sale of these goods in this city. Our price is 40 cents per pound. 25 cents per half pound; 15 cents per ¼ lb. They sell at 60 cents per pound in the cities.
